

Beverly C. S. Brazier was born March 6, 1954 in Sioux Lookout Ontario. She is the oldest of three children born to Gertrude Saville Brazier and William Brazier. Her brother Bill, sister-in-law Ollie, and sister Bette, with nephews Ryan, Skyler, and Aaron, and niece Kali and great nephew Dominic, complete the family. Family life centers around Sioux Lookout and also Saskatoon, where Bette and Kali live.

Bev's church involvement began in earnest when, in grade 8, a friend invited her to a confirmation class. Initially skeptical of the church and what that might mean, she attended the class with no intention of being confirmed. The Spirit, however, had different plans, and by the end of the course there was nothing she wanted more than to be confirmed and to be part of Christ's body.

After high school she attended the University of Winnipeg for her BA (French and Religious Studies) followed by an MDiv from Vancouver School of Theology - this included one year at St. Andrew's University, Scotland. In 2003 she earned her Doctor of Congregational Ministry from the Bangor School of Theology, University of Bangor Maine.

In 1981 she married the Rev. Nate MacIntosh, who died suddenly in 1986.

She has served pastoral charges in: PEI, Nova Scotia, Quebec and New Brunswick.

"I love God with all my heart" she says. "I love life and am thrilled to be here in the Yukon".

Some of her adventures have included working on a kibbutz in Israel for a summer, and a pulpit exchange in Australia. The biggest adventure of all, though, is learning how to live joyfully and faithfully wherever she is.

She looks forward to getting to know the place and the people here. Her interests include music and drama, as well as reading and having coffee with friends.
